Submission Guidelines for Publishing or Posting Articles

Statement:

Christian Life Resources (CLR) is an international pro-life and pro-family organization rooted in the principles provided in Scripture. Through its printed and website resources, Christian Life Resources reaches an international audience. That same audience, numbering in the thousands and millions, also represents potential submissions of material to Christian Life Resources for publication in its print publications or posting on any of its websites. To provide for the controlled or orderly process of consideration of such submissions, the following guidelines are provided:

Policy on Submitted Material

Christian Life Resources accepts submissions for consideration of publication either on the family of Christian Life Resources websites or in its periodicals. Submissions should be sent by email to Christian Life Resources (see email address below) with the attached document in MS Word or Rich Text Format. PDF files, as well as hand-written submissions, will not be accepted. Include your full name and relevant contact information.

Christian Life Resources reserves the right to refuse publication in print or posting on its websites of any submission without explanation or acknowledgment. Christian Life Resources reserves the right to edit all submitted articles intended for publication or posting.

Christian Life Resources does not return any unsolicited submitted material. Christian Life Resources returns submitted collateral material to articles (i.e., pictures, charts, etc.) only on a pre-agreed-upon basis.

Policy on Website Articles

Christian Life Resources does not pay for articles published on our website. Everything found on the Christian Life Resources websites are either written by the staff members of Christian Life Resources or sub-contracted authors, or are placed on the website with the permission of the author without compensation. In such cases we do permit a tagline that would promote an author's website or periodical/book as long as the aforementioned do not conflict with our pro-life and pro-family Christian positions. There is no length limitation for material submitted for Internet websites. You can view all of the Christian Life Resources websites at the bottom of the home page at:

Policy on Periodical Articles

Christian Life Resources accepts submissions for publication in our periodicals (Clearly Caring – Home Edition, Clearly Caring – Parish Edition, and Growing Branches). Generally, articles should be at least one page but no more than two pages in length (420-800 words). Exceptions can be made. You can see past issues at:

www.ClearlyCaring.com

In the event we publish an article in the magazine we pay a stipend of $75 per article (regardless of length) which would include permission from you to publish the article both in the periodical and on our website. All articles accepted for print publication must also include a picture of the author (color, minimum size of 2" x 2" in 600 dpi resolution) and author's name, city and state of residency, and brief biographical information pertinent to article content. Picture will not be returned unless a postage-paid pre-addressed mailing envelope is provided. We will include a tagline referencing a website or periodical/book as long as it is not in conflict with our positions.

Content of Submissions

Nothing provided in any submitted article for publication on Christian Life Resources websites or periodicals shall contain information contrary to Scripture and to the pro-life and pro-family positions of Christian Life Resources. Special care should be taken of any criticism of others in the submitted article since Christian Life Resources respects the command not to bear false witness or to harm a person's reputation. When possible, we ask for appropriate references that can be checked and verified to support any facts, quotes and related items found in the article.

Letters to the Editor

We do not publish letters to the editor on our websites or in our periodicals.
